The Chafee amendment, of the federal copyright law, allows authorized educational agencies to acquire and distribute specialized formats of print instructional material (textbooks and core related materials), without consent from the copyright holder, as long as the alternative format is for the exclusive use of persons with a documented print disability.
By signing this agreement the (Name) School District agrees to provide the following:
1. Determine if the student's disability qualifies him/her as eligible to use specialized formats of copyrighted print instructional material;
2. Provide access to specialized formats of print instructional material; and
3. Provide training in the use of assistive technologies needed to access the specialized formats of print instructional materials provided to the eligible student.
By signing this agreement, the parent and the student agree to the following conditions:
1. Use copyrighted material, in specialized formats, as specified in the students Individual Education Program (IEP) or 504 Plan to provide access to the general education curriculum;
2. Agree not to copy or distribute specialized formats of print instructional materials provided to any other person(s);
3. Specialized formats of Braille, large print and specialized equipment and aids will be promptly returned to the school when no longer needed to access the curriculum or upon exiting or graduation from school;
4. Any installation of a software program on loan to the student by the school district, i.e. Read:OutLoud , is the property of the school district and shall promptly be removed from the student's/parent's computer upon exiting or graduation from school.
By signing, all parties agree	e to the above conditions a	nd are bound to this Agre	ement.
