

DR. RANDAL PINKETT

Randal D. Pinkett is a business consultant who in 2005 was the winner of season four of the reality television show, The Apprentice. Pinkett was the first African American to win the US version of The Apprentice.

Dr. Randal Pinkett has established himself as an entrepreneur, speaker, author and scholar, and as a leading voice for his generation in business and technology. He is the founder, chairman and CEO of BCT Partners, a multimillion-dollar research, consulting, training, technology, and analytics firm headquartered in Newark, NJ.

Dr. Pinkett has been featured on nationally televised programs such as The Today Show, MSNBC, and CNN, and he has been recognized by USA TODAY newspaper as one of the top 20 scholars in the country.

Dr. Pinkett is a proud graduate of Leadership New Jersey and the Rockefeller Foundation's Next Generation Leadership program. Dr. Pinkett holds five academic degrees including: a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering from Rutgers University; a Master of Science in Computer Science from the University of Oxford in England; and a BCT Partners Your Partner in Solutions That Matter Master of Science in Electrical Engineering, MBA, and Ph.D. from Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT).

Developing a Global Citizen's Mindset

The arguments for diversity and inclusion have been made very clear from an organizational perspective but what is the argument from a personal vantage point? Why should you care as an individual? What is the value to you? During Dr. Pinkett's presentation you will learn about the Global Citizen's Mindset, which inherently sees the value of establishing relationships with people from different cultures both to make you a better person and the world a better place.
